

Table of contents

Introduction	5
Mario Camilleri
Reflections on the effective use of blogs in the classroom	7
Peter Ford
Blogging as activity or genre?	8
Building community – The first steps	10
Explicit building	11
Building techniques	11
Writing experiences in a second/foreign language classroom: from theory to practice	15
Valerie Sollars
Introduction	15
Purposes and functions for writing	15
Traditional approaches to teaching writing	17
Blogs	19
Blogs in practice	21
References	24
Improving writing skills in foreign language classes	27
Helena Leja
The challenges inherent in producing a piece of writing	27
Blogs as a means of expression for learners	28
Blogs as a response to psychological needs	29
Advantages of project participation vis-à-vis the challenge of writing	29
Topics addressed	31
Blogs and intercultural exchanges	33
So why write?	34
References	34
A feature set for an educational blogging platform	37
Mario Camilleri
Blogging platforms	37
Design brief	38
Deconstructing weblogs	39
Blogspace navigation	39
Workflow model	40
Blog moderation	41
User accounts and school-safe blogging	41
Promoting dialogue and community	42
Personalisation and other features	42
References	43
About the authors	45